

5 Reasons to Hire a Private Chef at your Next Dinner Party

Have you ever thought to hire a Chef for a dinner party, event or social gathering? If you answered no to that question, then you don't know all the advantages and benefits. Nothing compares to knowing you can relax and unwind with your guests while someone else handles all the hard work in the kitchen. Hire a personal chef and you'll get more than enough time to mingle and play the host, but the people who attend your party still get some top-notch cuisine. Still not convinced? Then take a quick read through the five points made below, and you'll soon come around to our way of thinking.

#1 – You can actually relax

The worst thing about most dinner parties is that you never get to spend a lot of time conversing with your guests. That is an issue that no longer causes a problem when you decide to hire a private chef for your dinner party or other events. After the initial prep work of organising and deciding your dinner party menu, you can sit back and relax with your guests and let your private chef get to work.

#2 – You get restaurant quality food

Professional private chefs are some of the most talented cooks in the industry. Hiring a private chef at your next dinner party ensures you and your guests will benefit from high-quality dishes of succulent food they will never forget. A huge worry people face can be the personal chef costs per hour, but the high-quality food and outstanding service, we believe the cost is worthy of the service. Remember you are not only hiring a private chef, but also a personal shopper, private server and dishwasher. Never hesitate to mention a budget if you have one. All chefs want to create an exceptional dining experience but they also want to create one that you can afford and have you as a repeat customer.

#3 – You don't have to wash up the dishes

Hands up who loves standing at the sink for an hour washing up after a dinner party? Thankfully, one of the many benefits of hiring a private chef is that you won't need to worry about washing the dishes after your party. Instead, you can have the peace of mind that someone in the kitchen will take care of the dishes and you can carry on the dinner party long after you've enjoyed the food.

#4 – You will definitely save lots of time

Most people forget that food preparations for a dinner party can begin hours or even days in advance of the event. Usually, that would mean the host might have to spend a lot of time shopping, prepping and in the kitchen before welcoming their guest. If you decide to invest in the talents of a private chef for your dinner party, we can assure you, your investment will be worth it. You'll be sure to enjoy the occasion just as much as your guests.

#5 – You get to choose the menu

Unlike eating at a restaurant where you have to choose from a selection of set meals, private chefs will cook just about anything you desire. Sure, they'll put their spin on the dish to make it extra special, but you actually control the menu. From Surf n' Turf and Crème Brule to Roasted Chicken and Pecan Pie. Either gourmet meals to simple main menu classics. In the end, you decide what you and your guests eat. Best of all, having a private chef catering for your dinner party ensures you can accommodate any special request, dietary or allergy concerns for you and your dinner guests.

After reading those great reasons why you need to hire a private chef at your next dinner party, there should be no doubt left in your mind about the benefits of using a private chef the next time you have a celebration. Just be sure to give yourself enough time to make all the necessary arrangements because, in most instances, you will want to choose: canapes, starter, main courses and dessert with the help from your chef. Don't stress too much if you're not exactly a foodie. Most private chefs have ready set menus to choose from and are more than happy to provide some recommendations.

Further questions about private chef hires?

Wondering how to hire a private chef or how much it costs. Find out more by visiting your website for menu options and how things work.

AVANTGARDECATERING.COM
7054654450

